

Limited Warranty

Techniwall guarantees the quality of aluminum, dry joints and various finishes of T100 and T200 walls.

Techniwall warrants the components of its walls for 10 consecutive years from the date of delivery, provided that a company certified by Techniwall has installed the components. All mechanical components are excluded from coverage.

The guarantee is digressive. Linear depreciation is used to define the value of a specific component at a given time. Techniwall will replace the damaged components to the value provided by the linear depreciation method provided they have been properly installed and maintained throughout the warranty period.

All costs associated with uninstalling, storing and disposing of damaged parts, as well as packaging, transportation, storage and labor costs for the installation of the replacement components will be the responsibility of the customer.

The warranty does not apply to normal wear and tear of components such as scratches, color variation due to ultraviolet rays, variation in the texture of finishes or any change that is the product of improper use or abuse, neglected handling and inadequate storage. Deflection of alignment and shrinkage of certain materials are not defined as defects. Performance and appearance of finishes are not covered.
